

Evening Charter Lecture on Zoom
'From viruses to bacteria and back again'
by Professor Alan McNally
Thursday 13 May 2021

Free and open to all - members & non-members alike

19.15 Welcome & Introduction
19.30 - 20.30 Charter Lecture

Alan McNally is a Professor in Microbial Genomics at the University of Birmingham. However, during the Covid-19 outbreak he was seconded to the Milton Keynes Lighthouse Lab as Infectious Disease lead at the Government's first flagship Covid-19 testing facility.

The lecture will include some details of Alan's Covid work, but will also touch on his research interests and his life before Covid.

Advance Booking is essential

For any booking or website queries please contact Harriet McAra at regions@rsb.org.uk

For any event queries please contact the branch secretary Rosemary Hall at eastmidlands@rsb.org.uk

